The Customer has to accept the goods when they are ready for delivery; delivery is deemed to take place when the goods are delivered to the Customer's nominated address, whereupon the risks of loss, breakage and all damage shall pass to the Customer. Supermax Healthcare Ltd's Customer Service department will advise you of which method of delivery to use to return the products. Our Customer Service department will either arrange a courier collection of the product, or request that you return the product to us directly at your expense. If we have arranged for a courier collection of your product, we are unable to specify the collection time. It is your responsibility to ensure that someone will be present when the courier arrives at the collection address. If Supermax Healthcare Ltd asks you to return it to us directly, proof of postage is not necessarily proof of delivery, and you are therefore strongly advised to send your package by recorded delivery, registered post or courier and to maintain sufficient insurance to cover the value of the goods.
